

Dog Days come to Army Trail School

ADDISON — At Army Trail School, students and their families enjoyed Army Trail Dog Days last week. Local author Craig Pierce brought his greyhounds, Honey and Daisy, to school for two student assemblies. Pierce's books, the American Dog series, are tales of working and rescued dogs. Pierce spoke to the Army Trail students about writing, shared information about Honey and Daisy, and read A Greyhound's Tale: Running for Glory, Walking for Home to the students. Tuesday evening, the Army Trail PTA sponsored a family event where visitors could meet therapy dogs, a guide dog, racing dogs and a K-9 dog, learning about how they spend their Dog Day helping others. The evening also included craft time where visitors had the opportunity to make their own dog ears or get their faces painted.

photo provided

Checking out Honey...

Army Trail kindergarteners check out Honey (and vice versa) before the Dog Days assembly begins.

Courtesy Photo

Dog Days comes to Army Trail School

Local author and dog handler Craig Pierce shows off Honey and Daisy to the students at Army Trail School last week as part of "Dog Days." See story elsewhere in this issue.