

photo provided

Group holds annual Operation Backpack

On Monday, August 10, members of Delta Kappa Gamma, a society of women educators, shopped and delivered school supplies as part of their annual Operation Backpack project. Each year, they not only raise funds but also apply for a grant from Lambda State Foundation for Educational Studies, Inc., in order to provide school supplies for students who need them. Most of the members of the Gamma Eta chapter are retired District 4 teachers who are continuing to help students even though they are no longer in the classrooms. This year's donation included folders, erasers, pencils, pens, markers, scissors, notebooks, rulers, glue and more than 150 backpacks.