

courtesy photo

IT students join Junior Jazz Fest

Six Indian Trail Junior High students participated in the IMEA Junior Jazz Festival on Saturday, October 29 at Geneva North Middle School. Pictured are (back row, l. to r.): Director George Andrikokus, Allison Galvan, Aleyah Hattab, Lia Caruso; (front row): Daniel Nowosad, Arthur Lee and Ryan Cabildo. Story and more photos inside.

IT Jazz Band participate in IMEA

ADDISON — Six Indian Trail Junior High students participated in the Illinois Music Educators Association (IMEA) Junior Jazz Festival on Saturday, October 29 held at Geneva Middle School North. Saturday's event featured elite student musicians from the northwest suburbs who came together to learn and perform at this annual music festival. Indian Trail students Aleyah Hattab, Allison Galvan, Arthur Lee, Daniel Nowosad, Lia Caruso, Ryan Cabildo, and Stephanie Corona were all selected to participate in the Festival after auditioning for the opportunity on October 1 in Yorkville. "The IMEA Festival is a great experience for these students," said IT Jazz Ensemble Director George Andrikokus. "It gives them the chance to perform with other extremely talented musicians and it usually results in their practicing longer and harder to improve their own skills."

The IMEA is the largest Fine Arts education organization in Illinois and it is among the largest in the nation. IMEA is a non-profit association, representing every level of music education in every discipline.

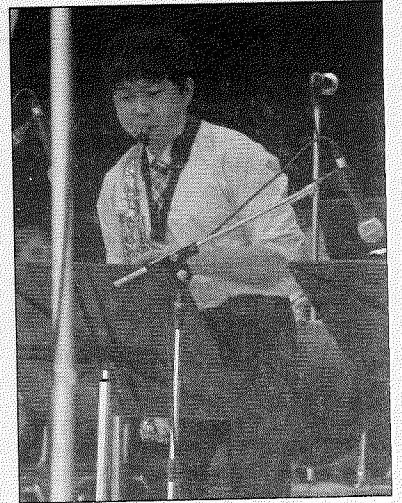

all photos provided

Ryan Cabildo on bari saxophone

Allison Galvan on trumpet

Arthur Lee on sax

Daniel Nowosad on trombone

Aleyah Hattab on sax

Lia Caruso on trumpet